Numb. 7126.

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, August 18. 1724.

Naples, July 25.

ON the 20th Instant in the Morning, Cardinal Althan, our Viceroy, went to visit the Arsenal of this City, with all the warlike Magazines; after which his Eminency in his Gondola went to see a Galley launched, as likewise another Galley which is upon the Stocks, and ordered the speedy finishing of it. Being afterwards returned to his Palace, he received the Compliments of the Nobility, and all Persons of Distinction that are here, on the Anniversary of his Birth-day; which being over, his Eminency treated splendidly at Dinner the two young Princes Ragotzky, with several other Generals and Foreigners of Note. Our principal Galley returned the same Day from cruising on the Corsairs of Barbary, without having met any of them.

Vienna, Aug. 5. The Court will go the 11th Instant to Neustadt, to stay there till the 27th. It has been resolved at a Council of War to augment the Forces in Italy, and there goes a Report that five or six Regiments are to march thither forthwith. Count Rabutin having now received his Instructions, is upon the Point of setting out for Berlin. The Differences between the Emperour and the King of Prussia are in a fair way to be speedily terminated, his Prussian Majesty, as it is said, having taken off the Sequestrations of the Incomes of the Monastry at Hamersleben. The Protestants of Hungary have sent a new Memorial, humbly beseeching his Majesty to have their Grievances effectually redressed. M. de St. Saphorin, his British Majesty's Minister, has sent back again the three Expresses he had received of late with the Resolutions of this Court upon the Dispatches directed to the said Minister. It is said, that his Imperial Majesty has advised the King of Poland to have an Interview incognito with his Prussian Majesty.

Vienna, Aug. 9. The Count de Caunitz, who is lately returned from Rome, went the Day after his Arrival to wait upon his Imperial Majesty in the Castle of the Favorita, and upon his giving the Emperour a short Account of the Success of his Transactions, his Imperial Majesty was pleased to to testify the great Satisfaction he had in his Conduct. On Tuesday last the Count de Velz, one of the Emperour's Privy Councellours, and Great Steward of the Archdutchess Elizabeth, having dined with Count Schonborn, Vice-Chancellour of the Empire, as he was going from Table to another Apartment, had the Misfortune to stumble over a Matt that was not well spread: By this fall he wounded his Face, and lost so much Blood before it could be stopt, that he died the next Day, in the 73d Year of his Age. He is generally lamented, and the more for having so well acquitted himself of the Commissions he had from the Emperour with Regard to the Religious Differences in the Empire. The Court seems to take Umbrage at the great warlike Preparations that are making in Spain. Mean while it is given out that the Court has found out an Expedient to adjust the Differences with that Crown, concerning the Garrisons to be put in Tuscany and Parma; but there is no likelihood his Imperial Majesty will hearken to the yielding of the Dutchy of Mantua. It is assured, that the Cardinal of Saxe-Zeitz has requested the Emperour to give him leave to lay down his Employment of his Imperial Majesty's principal Commissary at the Dyet of Ratisbon, by Reason of his Age and Infirmities.

Versailles, Aug. 14. M. Lawles, the King of Spain's Ambassador, having been informed that a large Ship is fitting out at St. Malo, for the South-Sea, has made Complaints about it to the King, upon which his Majesty forthwith sent Orders to seize the said Ship: It seems that the Court intends to put a full Stop to that Navigation, since amongst other Reasons, the Chief Trading Towns in the Kingdom have petitioned the King not to allow it longer to those of St. Malo, because their Trade to Cadiz is spoiled thereby. The King has made a Present of 800000 Livres to the Duke of Bourbon, in Consideration of the great Expence he was at in entertaining his Majesty at Chantilly.

Paris, Aug. 16. It is now said, that the King has advanced to the Undertakers of the Manufacture of all sorts of Stuffs which is to be erected here, the Sum of 400,000 Livres. An Arrêt of the Council of State was published here some Days ago, which takes away the Freedom of the City from all those that work in the Suburbs. There goes a Report, that a new Declaration will shortly be published, by which all Protestant Subjects will be forbid to go out of the Kingdom on Pain of being sent to the Gallies. M. Dodun, Comptroller-General of the Finances, has signified by Order of the King to the Marshal d'Estrées, that he ought to get ready to go to assist at the next Assembly of the States of Britany, as Governour of that Province. The Court seems to take Umbrage that the new Pope has already given Proofs of his Zeal for the House of Austria. We see here the Protestation which several Priests of the Mission have caused to be signified to their General Assembly. 'We Un-'dersubscribers, &c. having been informed, that 'Means were using to get the Constitution Unige-'nitus accepted in our General Assembly, and 'knowing that at least one half of our Fraternity, 'and of the best Families in France, have always 'been, and still are, against the Constitution, do 'therefore humbly represent to M. Bonet, our 'Right Reverend Superior and General, and to 'all the other Deputies of the said Assembly, that 'if this Acceptance were to take Place directly or 'indirectly, it would be infallibly attended with 'the Ruin of the Society, and occasion such a Fire 'of Division as would infallibly consume us. For 'which Reasons, we do oppose as much as in us 'lies against the General Assembly's receiving that 'Bull in any Manner of Way, protesting that eve-'ry thing shall be null and void that may be done 'to the contrary, and declaring that our Consci-'ences do not permit us to receive the said Bull, be-'fore that the Church, to which we shall be al-'ways most obedient, has given her Decision here-'in.' We have Accounts from several Towns and Provinces, that they have begun to put in Execution the King's last Declaration against his Protestant Subjects; that they have obliged those of Sedan and Rochelle to send all their Children to be instructed in the Roman Catholick Religion; that the Bishop of Rochelle has published a very rigorous Mandate against those afflicted People; and it is confirmed, that Madam Solomy Plante, Native of Clerac, and Widow of M. Cledier, formerly merly Minister of the Reformed in the Church of La Parade who went to Holland in the Year 1685, with the King's Passport, having returned some time ago to Clerac, with a Daughter born at Amsterdam in 1704, have been both taken up by the Intendant's Order: The Mother is sent to Prison, and the Daughter to a Convent.

Plymouth, Aug. 14. This Day came in the Shark Man of War; sailed the Bing for London from the Streights.

Briſtol, Aug. 15. This Day came in the Brown Frigate, John and Henry, and Achilles, all from Jamaica.

Graveſend, Aug. 16. Paſſed by the Proſperous Ann from Norway; Prince Frederick from Oſtend; Phœnix Sloop from Rotterdam; and Nathaniel and John from Riga.

Philadelphia, June 18. On the 5th Inſtant a Brigantine, commanded by Thomas Mouſel, of Charles-Town in New-England, in her Voyage from Boſton to Virginia, was taken by a Spaniſh Pyrate Ship of 14 Guns and 80 Men, between Cape Henlopen and Cape Charles: The Pyrates commanded Mouſel on board their Ship, who went with three of his Hands, and ſent 2 Spaniards, 1 Savoyard, 1 Frenchman, and 1 Mulatoe; the Frenchman was forced, and turned to the Engliſh ſo ſoon as he came on board the Brigantine: The Orders of the Pyrates was to force the Maſte and the reſt of the Hands on board, to convey her to the Havanna or Cuba; but by the Engliſhman's Dexterity in altering the Compaſs (with a Load-Stone) they loſt the Ship the firſt Night, and afterwards unanimouſly ſet upon the Pyrates, overcame them, and on Tueſday the 9th Inſtant run the Brigantine aſhore on Cape Henlopen.
